Allen McNeely was appointed Deputy Commissioner/Director of the Occupational Safety and Health Division of the North Carolina Department of Labor (NCDOL) in July of 2003. He joined NCDOL in the summer of 2001 as the Director of Research and Policy after working with the North Carolina Community College System for 13 years. He has a diverse background in higher education administration and training initiatives. His 30 years of state employment also include service at North Carolina State University (NC State) and the North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources.

Allen is a western North Carolina native. He received his bachelor of arts from Appalachian State University, then pursued his graduate studies at NC State. He and his wife, Marilyn, have two sons, Michael and Campbell.
