Marcy Collyer is a highly qualified professional with an extensive background in environmental, health and safety management and consulting. Marcy relocated to North Carolina from northern New York and joined the ETTA staff in July 2006 as a Health Education and Training Specialist. In September 2007 Marcy began her current position as Training Supervisor. She has a diverse background which includes five years of service in the United States Navy, wastewater laboratory experience and experience working on grant and State funded research projects while completing her college education. For seven years Marcy worked as a consultant where one of her primary duties was the development and instruction of health and safety training programs. Marcy graduated from the State University of New York - Plattsburgh in 1996 with a B.S. in environmental science and a minor in chemistry.
